

Your favourite website: Youtube. I love using short videos to create interest in class.

A book you would recommend (fictional or ELT): Educated (Tara Westover)

Something you'd never throw away: my phone

Who or what inspires you? My most challenging students, they are the ones that offer me the possibility to learn and grow.

The funniest email/whatsapp/message you've ever sent or received

(Please keep it politically correct): A few years ago I copied and pasted a message on whatsapp to wish people a Happy New Year so I sent it to lots of friends, colleagues and acquaintances. Then I realised that I had sent everyone "kisses".

Your favourite lesson: when I introduce quantifiers and I use a recipe for a chocolate cake and we actually make it in class.

Your favourite bit about your talk: it highlights the importance of giving space to every single student and it includes different ways to achieve this.

A lesson you've learnt while teaching: behind each student there are emotions and I'm part of those emotions.
