

Your favourite website: Youtube is the website I probably use most.

A gadget you can't live without: Right now I really can't live without my smartphone. Everything seems to be happening there.

Something you'd never throw away: Photos and audio recordings.

Who or what inspires you? I get my daily dose of inspiration by my children, and all those wonderful people out there who share their time with others not expecting anything in return. I feel really lucky to know some.

Useful teaching tool: Paper, in all its shapes and sizes. I love using sticky notes and paper stripes, they are always present in my class.

Your favourite lesson: One in which we came up with an actual social media campaign to raise awareness on the issues we were concerned about. I think it was a really nice experience for everyone in class that day.

Your favourite bit about your talk: I am not sure, but I love travelling and I will be inviting people on a journey, so it will probably be that.

A lesson you've learnt while teaching: As a teacher I can learn from a classroom experience just as much as my students do.
